

Dear Blue Class,

It was so lovely to speak to so many of you. I know you are all missing your friends and hopefully we will be able to get back to school soon. We all still miss you, I speak to Tracy and Duygu and they tell me how much they miss your smiling faces and Duygu is so sad for not seeing you for a long time.

Duygu and Tracy met up last week in Duygu's garden and they had a nice time just chatting and having lunch together. They both said it was nice to see each other. Duggu has been busy in the kitchen she has made kofte, traditional Turkish food, for her family. Have you ever eaten it at home or at a restaurant? She has also planted some new flowers and bought some lights for her garden doesn't it look beautiful?

Tracy and I have met for a bike ride twice since I last wrote as we are trying to get fit but Tracy keeps saying that she is going to ask her husband to put a motor on her bike so that she can get up the hills. I keep saying that she will never get fit if she does that. Anyway we went back along Lee Valley Canal trail. It was a beautiful day and we saw lots of birds and ducks. The second time we went to Forty Hall. It was another really hot day and it was lovely, I ended up talking to some cows. The only thing is that we got bitten by bugs (not the cows) so I was a bit miserable for a few days.

Tracy and Duygu have been busy at school looking after the children who come into the nursery. Tracy has also seen her grandchildren in their garden, been shopping and helping her husband decorate by bringing him cups of tea. Jack still expects Tracy to throw his ball he put it on her shoulder and sat waiting for her to throw it.

I have almost finished writing all your reports and I have been looking at your fantastic work on Purple Mash. Don't forget to send pictures of work you would like me to see via the office I have loved looking at them. I have continued to bake cakes, this week was a vegan lemon cake, I think at the end of this I could open a little tea shop. When the weather is nice I take my parents for a walk in Finsbury Park. I have been watching my plants grow. I still try to play my piano, steel pan, cello and saxophone as often as I can, hope you are doing the same. Aiden played his guitar to me last week and he sounded like he has been putting in a lot of practising so well done to him and anyone else who has been practising their instruments.

I have missed a lot of your birthdays so Duygu, Tracy and I wish the following children a happy belated birthday: Aaliyah, Amira C, Amirah I, Amira E, Alfie, Anais, Cavani, Hannah, Fred, Martha and Freya.

Stay safe and look after you mums and dads.

Best wishes

Duygu, Tracy and Hazel
